Travel can only be claimed as a medical expense if an equivalent service is not available to you within 40 km of your home.
You must travel at least 40 km away (round trip 80 km) to claim mileage as a medical expense and 80 km away (round trip 160 km) to claim meals as a medical expense.
You can only claim hotel costs as a medical expense if the nature of your visit requires you to stay overnight. Keep your receipts for hotel stays or parking fees to be claimed as medical expenses.
